OPENING HYMN.

GLADSOME we hail this day's return ;
In God's great name again we meet ;
Our hearts once more within us burn,
And our communion shall be sweet.

We bless Thee, Lord, for all the good
Thy liberal hand has freely given ;
For grace by which our feet have stood
In ways that lead the soul to heaven.

For all the mercies of the past
We join in songs of filial praise ;
Around us now Thy favour cast,
Thou Guide and Guardian of our days.

'Twas by Thy spirit's kindling flame
Thy servants felt their bosoms glow,
And in Thy all-sustaining name,
They still with hallowed ardour go.

More strength we crave, more love, more zeal,
That we may follow Christ and live
To labour for our brethren's weal,
And unto Thee the glory give !

CLOSING HYMN.

FAREWELL my friends, beloved,
Time passes fleetly ;
When moments are improved,
Time passes sweetly :
In Jesus we are one,
When our few years are gone,
Before the shining throne
We'll meet in glory.

The woes of life we feel,
And its temptations ;
But let us nobly fill
Our proper stations :
Soldiers of Christ, hold fast,
The war will soon be past,
When victory comes at last,
We'll meet in glory.

And oh, what joys shall crown
That happy meeting !
We'll bow before the throne,
Each other greeting :
Refresh'd again we start,
Though, for a while, we part,
Yet always joined in heart,
We'll meet in glory.
